UGT's Trade Union training aims at a fairer and more egalitarian society

UGT's Training Department, with the cooperation of the Solidarity Center - AFL-CIO, held, on July 4 and 5, the "Workshop on political and union education from a gender and race perspective".

ght for a fairer and more egalitarian society.

"When we conceived this event, the idea was to work on the issue of representativeness. Therefore, we are very happy to, in fact, bring together people from all over Brazil to strengthen our struggle," said Josi Camargo, UGT's Training Secretary. On the occasion, between lectures, debates and group activities, the topics covered were inclusion and diversity; collective of gender; the international economic and political situation from a gender and race perspective; the labor and welfare reforms and the setbacks in social policies.

Trade unions act to fight against exploration of commerce worker

In a joint action, the Federation of Employees in Commerce and Services of the State of Sergipe, affiliated to UGT, and its affiliated unions are increasing requests to the Regional Labor and Employment Police for supervision with the goal of preventing abuse against trade workers.

"In the XXI century, the businessmen of commerce are going back and trying to impose the exploitation of the worker, to the point of reducing the work of the trader to conditions that are analogous to that of slave," denounces Ronildo.

According to Ronildo Almeida, president of FECOMSE, the infractions mainly take place in the malls and supermarkets of Aracaju. There are reports of excessive hours, work from Sunday to Sunday without leave, work on holidays without negotiation with workers and without overtime pay, bullying and psychological pressure. The goal of this action, by intensifying enforcement requests, is to correct distortions in the workplace.

According to reports that reached the trade union, in malls, employees work for up to three consecutive weeks (including Saturdays and Sundays) without days off, undergoing full-time standing hours with no right to sit, and face restrictions to go to the bathroom. As for the supermarkets, owners want to open their stores from Sunday to Sunday, on holidays, but do not hire and even threaten with dismissal the worker who does not adapt to the company's rules.

UGT performs training from a gender and race perspective

Ricardo Patah, UGT's National President, attended the "Workshop on Political and Trade Union Training from a Gender and Race Perspective", conducted by its Trade Union Training Department with the cooperation of the Solidarity Center AFL-CIO.

so many adversities, we keep on moving forward, with our policies and training, always in defense of the worker," Patah said.

The event, held in Praia Grande, in the Siemaco-SP Holiday Camp, affiliated to UGT, aims to strengthen, create and advance affirmative instruments and policies to overcome the moment of retreat in Brazil, especially to the working class and even greater when considering the gender and race realities. "The fight for inclusion in its many forms is in the DNA of UGT. We have a civic duty to make the changes we want. Even in the midst of Union leaders from all over the country participated in this event. Salim Reis, UGT's vice-president, Orildes Lottici, UGT's Secretary of Trade Union Training with Cooperation of the Solidarity Center (AFL-CIO); Regina Zagretti, Ana Cristina Duarte and Josi Camargo, respectively, secretaries of UGT's Women, Diversity and Training Departments; Cássia Bufelli and Joyce Ribeiro, assistant secretary and advisor to the Women's Department; Cristina Palmieri, coordinator of 2030 Day and the Sustainability Committee; and Helen Silvestre, from the Institute of Higher Studies (IAE).

UGT and Fesmepar win the elections of municipal public servants of Paranaguá

Slate 2, Changing with Responsibility, headed by Janete Isabel Passos (in the picture), municipal servant from Paranaguá, won the election of SISMUP - Municipal Servants Union of Paranaguá, held on Monday, July 2, in this important city on the coast of Paraná. The winning slate was supported by UGT's State branch of Paraná and Fesmepar (Federation of Public Servants of Paraná).

to participate in this important union election", said Janet Isabel Passos, the president-elect.

It was a fierce, undemocratic dispute in which a board that had been perpetuated for over 30 years tried, in every way, to prevent the participation of the servants in the electoral process. "Even aware of the schedule of the World Cup, with the probable participation of Brazil in a game on July 2, the ruling board at the time marked the election of the union precisely for that date, showing its disposition to demotivate the servants

The members of slate 2, aware of the difficulties presented, went through all the departments of the city hall of Paranaguá and Antonina, presenting the proposals of the slate Change with Responsibility.

Data collected by the slate show more than 4 thousand municipal servers, but only 800 are union members. And there are just over 400 members able to vote. "One of our main proposals is to increase the democratic participation of the employees, promoting SISMUP as the true Worker's House, with the effective participation of all departments of the administration," said Janete, who thanked the commitment of all members of the staff and organizations that supported this change proposal.

Though society advances on some points, especially with regard to technology, some behavioral aspects still seem to need further discussion. We, as union leaders, representatives of the working class, have an obligation to discuss how discrimination impacts relations and the formation of the labor market," he said.

The Subcommittee, which has a link with the Human Rights Commission (CHR), discusses the systematization of the new statute. Patah emphasized the fact that the approval of the labor reform, in force since November 2017, extremely damaged the working class because it came with a promise of job and income generation, but it proved to be ineffective and a regression to labor rights, recognizing the popular organization of the working class, emphasizing the importance of the union movement not only for the workers, but also of a paternalistic way by providing gaps to the population left by the state.
